

FIRECRACKERS

Out Of Season Caused Horse To Run Away

It happened on North Main street. A small boy was holding a post-Fourth of July celebration with a few firecrackers which he mischievously placed near a delivery wagon belonging to the P. J. Henegan grocery. Naturally the horse started and started with a vengeance too. He fairly tore up the ground. The delivery boy emerged from the house and caught sight of the disappearing heels of the horse and immediately began to conjure the amount of destruction the horse and wagon would do in their wild flight. As he walked down Main street, he followed the route the horse had taken by the people standing along the way. His terror increased and he hastened down to the grocery. No horse was there. He followed the trail, arrived at the barn and found his ribs, the horse, calmly munching hay!

INSPECTS

Bridge At Zanesville Does Engineer Wolverton

(Zanesville Times-Recorder.) The main part of the Third street bridge is all right, according to information furnished by the county commissioners Friday, but the draw-bridge is in bad shape and will have to be repaired, this giving rise to the report that the bridge had been condemned. A heavy beam on the sub-structure of the draw was broken, and when cars pass over it, the other end of the bridge is raised two or three inches. Engineer Wolverton of the Mt. Vernon Bridge company, inspected it yesterday, and it will be repaired immediately, at a cost of $200 or $300.

The lifting mechanism of the Y bridge is not sufficient to raise the bridge, so the commissioners will install a heavier weight. This will also be done immediately.

FAST RUN

Made By Excursion Trains To Sandusky

When one considers that the regular trains take three hours and twenty-three minutes to make the run, while these trains both made it in two hours and forty minutes, it can be seen what a fine run was made.

BLAMES THE GOVERNMENT FOR THE HIGH PRICES

New York, July 22.—That the sugar trust contributed $10,000 to the Republican campaign fund in 1892, because it desired Benjamin Harrison elected president over Grover Cleveland, was stated on the stand by John E. Parsons, former chief counsel for the trust. Parsons said he believed a corporation had just as much right to contribute to a campaign fund as an individual.

Parsons also insisted to the Harbuck congressional committee that the fight between the sugar trust and the Harbuck interests is still on. He justified rebating by the trust, for which it was fined $70,000, by insisting that it "earned the rebates before the law prohibiting them was passed."

"The sooner politicians realize that in their efforts to prevent the combination of capital they are increasing the prices of all commodities and that the dear public alone must be the sufferer," Parsons insisted, "the better it will be for this country."

Origin of an Old Rhyme.

In Chile there lives underground like the mole a queer little animal with a long name, chamapophorus, which really means armor bearing. Its fore feet are adapted for digging. The whole upper and hinder parts of the body are covered with a coat of mail made up of a series of square plates. The peculiar tail is protected by small scales, but the under parts of the body and legs are covered with soft hair.

MAGAZINE PUBLISHER BEFORE THE PROBERS

Washington, July 22.—E. G. Lewis, president of the Lewis Publishing company of St. Louis, testified before the house committee on expenditures in the postoffice department that whereas a few years ago he was worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, he was compelled to borrow the money to come to Washington to appear as a witness before the committee.

Mr. Lewis told of what he called the persecution of the postoffice inspectors who had come into his plant, their attitude being, he said, "that we were under some criminal charge." This was at the time of an investigation several years ago as to whether the company was entitled to second-class mailing privileges. The controversy between himself and the inspectors, Lewis testified, was so bitter that at times they almost came to blows.

Lewis is under indictment on 12 counts on charges of misusing the mails.

"NEVER MORE"

Quote The Marshal Of Polk In Police Court

After Being Arrested For Intoxication

(Mansfield News.)
Quoth the marshal, "Never more," as short of all his glory and sweet humility marking his every action, he stood up in police court Thursday morning and pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk. Armed with a warrant and a six-shooter 38 revolver, the marshal of Polk landed in Mansfield Tuesday to arrest a Mansfield young man on a charge of violating the speed ordinance of Polk and of shooting within the corporate limits. The attorney says that he slowed his motorcycle down when he came to the village, because the crossings are high and he did not dare to ride fast. A dog came out to attack him and when he shut off the engine the exhaust of the muffler caused the explosion, which the villagers mistook for the discharging of firearms. A warrant for the arrest of the young man was sworn out before Mayor L. Lessley.

It was this warrant which proved the downfall of the mighty marshal of Polk. He arrived here Tuesday night and at once began a search for the young man, whom, he declared, should go back in handcuffs. The marshal got thirsty Tuesday during his search and drank from a few flagons. He soon became boastful and proclaimed he would get his man if he had to deputize the entire police force of the city to help. It was not long before the marshal himself was brought to the city prison and locked up. In searching him the officers could not find his badge so some one pinned a star tobacco tag on the marshal.

Thursday morning the marshal was very docile. "I was intoxicated and am sorry to say so," he told the mayor, and he promised himself it would never occur again. He had $5.80 when locked up. His fine was $2 and costs which left just enough for him to get back to Polk on an early car and would arrive there long before the marshal could. This is a rare incident where the prisoner arrives without the officer. The village of Polk has been two nights and the better part of two days without any police protection. Mr. Rickel says he fears he will lose his job as marshal but he has work on the section. He is married and is 47 years old. He was given his revolver and his warrant when he left the city. Marshal Rickel left for Polk on the 10:35 car.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Herdman and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dennis went to Chicago, Ill., Saturday morning to enjoy a vacation of ten days.

Mr. G. W. Vail was a Columbus visitor Saturday.
